

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is generally directed to assisting users to position a pointer on a target. Embodiments of the present invention provide a system, method, and computer-readable medium that guide a pointer toward a target. After the pointer is located on a target, 5 pointer movement continues to be adjusted so that the user may easily keep the pointer located on the target.